community engaged ce teaching is not a new concept however in the past several years it has gained increased emphasis as is evident by the changes to institution mission statements and the allocation of institution resources to support faculty development in ce teaching as well as to support ce coursework and research the arrival of the covid 19 pandemic forced many faculty members to pivot to an all online instruction model impacting community engaged teaching and research in both predictable and unexpected ways community partners facing similar struggles to serve their communities with restrictions on face to face interaction were often too overwhelmed to work with higher education volunteers legally universities could not ask students to risk their health with face to face community engagement in fact the number of ce courses decreased dramatically in 2020 and 2021 due to the unique challenges posed by the pandemic at the same time the pandemic presented some ce faculty with new opportunities for community engagement some responded swiftly to the immediate needs of the local regional or national community with which they worked taking advantage of the affordances of digital technology or capitalizing on the issues that the pandemic itself created or exacerbated this collection captures the incredible work of pivoting and innovating in community engaged teaching with a primary focus on community engaged teaching in higher education this collection explores how faculty students and community partners navigated their work during the covid 19 pandemic additionally it raises important questions about

the second english language edition of the small fragment set manual was enthusiastically received and quickly went into a second printing in preparing a third edition we found it necessary to revise the text extensively and partly restructure it the reasons for this are numerous experience of recent years has brought technical refinements in the operative treatment of many types of small fracture many of these changes stem from the small fragment set training programs conducted in switzerland since 1980 and also from courses and symposia that have been held in other european countries and the united states these events were occasions for a fruitful exchange of experience with surgeons who were critical of our methods as a result of this exchange we perceived a need both to revise our indications and to give greater attention to alternative techniques we also felt it necessary to respond to criticisms of the first two editions concerning the catalog like instrument lists and illustrations and the attention given to fundamental techniques many surgeons who work or would like to work with small implants especially those practicing abroad are inexperienced in operations on the larger bones it is imperative that these colleagues be given a basic introduction to the biomechanical thinking of the swiss association for the study of internal fixation asif
